As of March 30, 2018

CHAPTER 1A of the LAMC

Article 1 Introductory Provisions

Article 1 will establish the new Zoning Code, explain how it works, and will be a good place for provisions that may apply beyond zoning. The emergency actions Division will carry over the existing text with minor edits to match the new system.

Article 2 Article 2. Form

Article 2 will contain all of the Form Districts available throughout the City, as needed. Every property would be required to have a Form District designation on their zone string. Form Districts will be organized into Form Classes (including specialized Classes) which will also be organized into what we are currently referring to as “Super” Classes.

“Super” Class → Form Class → Form District

The team is working to reduce Form District display/illustration from the previous two pages to one, and to give each unique Form District its own page. We have accounted for each of the Form Districts developed under the previously proposed Context-based zoning system.

Form Districts will be simplified with the goal of reducing the number of foreseeable variations, and will address:

- Lot Size
- Site “Coverage”
- Setbacks
- Height
- Floor Area Ratio
- Upper Story Stepback
- Building Mass

Alternative Forms Classes will also be available for certain cases (i.e. places of worship, police/fire stations, museums, etc.) and could be based on building typologies that the City may want to encourage, but would not necessarily fit within the parameters of certain Form Districts. The alternative to this would be to continue requiring a long string of entitlement requests. They would only be accessible through a Director’s Determination (discretionary action) and subject to any applicable guidelines, conditions of approval, and appeal.

Article 3    Article 3. Frontages

Article 3 will contain all of the Frontages available in the City. Every property would be required to have a Frontage designation on their zone string. The idea is to organize them into a hierarchy so the Frontage designation acts as the minimum requirement, making all of the more restrictive Frontages available as options as well. Example: if we set a Large-Format (aka “big-box” stores) Frontage on a zone string and a developer chose to provide more of a Shopfront Frontage, it would be okay.

Frontages will be organized into Classes (including specialized Classes) which will also be organized into “Super” Classes. We have accounted for all of the Frontages developed under the previous version of the zoning system. The specific organization of these Frontages is still subject to change and reconsideration.

Frontages will be playing a slightly larger role in built environment, and will address:

- Build-To Requirements
- Parking Setbacks
- Connectivity
- Frontage Applicability
- Transparency
- Story Height
- Pervious Area
- Walls, Fences, & Hedges in Setbacks
- Pedestrian Access
- Building Elements
- Vehicle Access

Character Frontages will address the established characteristics in the neighborhoods identified in Survey LA as Planning Areas, and will introduce the following additional standards:

- Primary Siding Materials
- Roof Materials
- Roof Shapes

Article 4 Development Standard Sets

Article 4 contains sets of development standards that vary, and are tailored to different kinds of places in the City. The Development Standard Sets are a required part of the zone string. While the majority of Development Standard Sets may only specify the amount of parking required in addition to access requirements, certain Development Standard Sets contain additional regulations. For example, in the Hillside-Oriented Development Standard Set, there are grading requirements that do not pertain elsewhere. The Coastal-Oriented Development Standard Set may also have additional standards that implement the California Coastal Act. The project team is also considering including Site Plan Review thresholds in the Development Standard Sets, which would allow for the threshold to vary with increased thresholds applicable in some Development Standard Sets and decreased thresholds in others.

Article 5 Article 5. Citywide Development Standards

---

Article 5 contains Citywide Development Standards that are applicable throughout the City where the new Code is applied.

Article 6 Use Districts

Article 6 will contain all of the Use Districts available in the City. Use Districts will be a mandatory part of the zone string, however the specification of household unit density will be optional. Use Districts will be organized into Use Classes based on their similarity in planning goals and intensity of permitted uses. We have accounted for all of the Use Districts developed under the previous version of the zoning system and the current Zoning Code.

Uses are organized into the following Use Categories:

- Residential
- Public and Institutional
- Commercial
- Heavy Commercial
- Light Industrial
- Heavy Industrial
- Agriculture
- Accessory

Within each Category, uses are further organized into Use Groups and Call-Out Uses. Each Use Group and Call-Out Use has an associated permission level (permitted, not permitted, limited, or permitted with discretionary action), and a definition which can be found in Article 14.

Citywide Use Standards are organized by Use Category, as they are tied to Use Groups and Call-Out Uses referenced in Article 6 under each Use District. General Use Provisions, however, are not tied to any specific Use Group or Call-Out Use, and act as standalone requirements that apply to a variety of uses and circumstances.

Article 8      Streets & Public Improvements

Article 8 will contain provisions pertaining to street improvement requirements. The initial language may include minor language changes to the existing requirements in the current Zoning Code in order work with the new zoning system but the existing policies should remain largely intact. The project team is exploring the idea of setting the existing Code requirements as a default streetscape type and leaving room for the development of other streetscape types in the future.

Article 9      Division of Land

Article 9 will contain whatever standards are left in Article 7 of the current Zoning Code after taking out processes & procedures. There may be minor language changes to work with the new zoning system but, since subdivision is largely guided by State law, the existing policies should remain largely intact.

Article 10    Incentive Systems

---

Article 10 is still being worked on; and administrative draft does not exist. However, the project team envisions this as the location for all of the different incentives systems currently found throughout our current Zoning Code and will be the home for any new one we may create along the way.

Centralizing these and creating any necessary variety will help the Department ensure that these systems work together, and not compete with one another. This standardizing could also help in making sure that we can periodically revisit them and recalibrate them to maintain their effectiveness.

Article 11 Article 11. Overlays & Specific Plans

---

Article 11 will carry over only the necessary overlays from the current Zoning Code; right now we are considering the overlays listed below. The project team is currently working on developing new Conservation Districts that act as standardized, “lighter” versions of Historic Preservation Overlays. The project team is currently going over the Neighborhood Stabilization and Hillside Construction Overlays to see if they can be addressed by other parts of the new Zoning Code.

- Division 11.1. Relationship to Districts
- Division 11.2. Specific Plans
- Division 11.3. Community Plan Implementation Overlays
- Division 11.4. Historic Preservation Overlays
- Division 11.5. Conservation Districts
- Division 11.6. Sign Districts
  - Sec. 11.6.01 Tier 1 Sign Districts
  - Sec. 11.6.02 Tier 2 Sign Districts
- Division 11.7. Neighborhood Stabilization Overlays (?????)
- Division 11.8. Hillside Construction Overlays (?????)

Article 12 Article 12. Administration

---

Article 12 will contain the Department’s processes & procedures to review a variety of applications and requests. It will cut the current number of project review processes in half. This new set of processes & procedures will maintain long-standing opportunities for public participation, and make it easier for both applicants and the public to clearly understand how the Department considers use and development proposals and how to navigate the decision-making process.

Currently, there are over 100 different paths for project review scattered throughout the Zoning Code. For example, there are four types of adjustments for projects covered by overlays – an additional layer of design and building standards. While the same process applies for all four types of adjustments, they have different names and are located in different sections of the Zoning Code. The team identified each instance of redundant workflows and consolidated them down to about 50 processes with unique actions.
